CORPORATE OFFICE CENTERS ADDS VIDEO CONFERENCING TO THREE LOCATIONS

Video conference technology to increase productivity while decreasing costs.

ARLINGTON, TX (February 18, 2009) Corporate Office Centers, a national provider of executive office suites and business services, has added video conferencing at three of its premier locations: Arlington, Texas; Scottsdale, Arizona; and Memphis, Tennessee.

Video conferencing is quickly becoming the go-to option as businesses search for real time tools that increase effective communication and reduce travel expenses. According to a recent survey by Psytechnics posted October 8, 2008 on newswiretoday.com, 80% of telecommunications professionals surveyed are currently deploying or are seriously considering the use of video conferencing. Use of video conference technology allows the users to have face to face meetings without leaving a carbon footprint.

“We are very excited to add this technology to our service menu and provide our clients and other businesses in the area a cost effective alternative to wasted travel time and cash costs associated with business travel. By using video conferencing, the strain on resources is minimized and it also serves as an effective green solution to auto and air travel” said Thad Pittman, President and Co-Founder of Corporate Office Centers.

Corporate Office Centers offers public access rooms in a professional and well appointed business environment and the video conference equipment used is compatible to the majority of other systems. All necessary arrangements are handled by the onsite staff to ensure a high-quality and efficient video conference experience.
